Romans 15:13 (NKJV)

13 Now may the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing, that you may abound in hope by the power of the Holy Spirit.

There are days when hope seems easy to find. Things are going well, prayers are being answered, and the road ahead looks clear. But there are other days when hope can feel far away. We face disappointments, uncertainty, sickness, family struggles, financial pressures, and prayers that seem to go unanswered. Paul reminds us that our hope is not found in our circumstances.

Our hope is found in God. He calls Him “the God of hope.”

That means when our circumstances change, God does not change. When our plans fail, God's promises remain. When we cannot see what tomorrow holds, we can still trust the One who holds tomorrow. Think about driving through a thick fog. You may not be able to see miles down the road. Sometimes you can only see a short distance in front of you. But you keep moving because you can see enough for the next step. That is often how God leads us. He may not show us everything that is ahead, but He gives us enough light to trust Him for the next step. Don't allow this world to have you always looking down, lift up your head and focus on Heaven and see His Glory in His love for you.

May God pour out a blessing on you today, I hope to see you in Church.
